

Boston, Nov. 25, 1861.

Dear Mr. Alger:

I was one among the many highly gratified listeners yesterday, at Music Hall, to the delivery of your discriminating and admirable discourse in vindication of Reform and Reformers, as against popular corruption and injustice. I hope you will find occasion to deliver it many times to different audiences; but, whenever you feel willing to see it in print, it will give me great pleasure to publish it entire in the Liberator.

I am very desirous of inserting in the Liberator, this week, the eulogy you paid to the memory of my honored friend, Francis Jackson, Esq. - Can you furnish me with a copy by Wednesday forenoon? Please do so.

Yours, with high esteem,
Wm. Lloyd Garrison.

Rev. W. R. Alger.

The copy may be sent to my address, Anti-Slavery Office, Room 6, 221 Washington Street.
